

Eleven pushers snagged in "Operation Coke Buster"

BY DONALD HARVILL

Eleven alleged drug pushers have been apprehended in a crackdown by the Hancock County Sheriff's and Waveland Police Departments with more arrest expected.

Thursday afternoon, officers from the two agencies began executing warrants on 29 defendants from whom undercover officers had purchased controlled substances over the past four months, according to Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Most of those arrested were from Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Kiln areas. The purchases, cocaine and marijuana, were made undercover by officers from the Picayune Police Department and the St. Tammany Sheriff's Department, Peterson said.

Arrested are:
—Tyrone Benoit, alias Tyrone Waiver, 25, of Waveland on two counts of sale of a controlled substance. He is being held on a $10,000 bond.

—Joanne Williams, Midway Trailer Park, Waveland, on two counts sale of a controlled substance. She is being held on a $10,000 bond.

—Janet Louise Ladner, 22, of Kiln, on three counts sale of a controlled substance. She is being held on a $15,000 bond.

—Tony Carr, 27, on three counts sale of a controlled substance. She is being held on a $15,000 bond.

—Christopher Todd Peterson, 21, of Kiln on two counts sale of a controlled substance. He has been released on a $10,000 bond.

—Ninon Peterson of Kiln, on one count sale of a controlled substance. She is being held on a $5,000 bond.

—Julius Freddie Thompson of Kiln, on one count of sale of a controlled substance. He has been released on a $5,000 bond.

—Wesley Joseph Ladner, 21, of Kiln, on one count of sale of a controlled substance. He has been released on a $5,000 bond.

—Lori Belk, 26, of Pass Christian, on one count of sale of a controlled substance. She is being held on a $5,000 bond.

—James C. Belk II, 26, of Long Beach, on one count of sale of a controlled substance.

—Paul Williams, 25, of Midway Trailer Park, Waveland, on three counts sale of a controlled substance. He is being held for the Pass Christian Police Department for aggravated assault on a police officer.

When officers went to Williams' place of work in Pass Christian Friday, he resisted arrest and completely severed a finger of Pass Christian policeman Jim Martin by biting it, Peterson said Saturday morning.

Doctors were unable to reattach Martin's finger, according to Peterson.

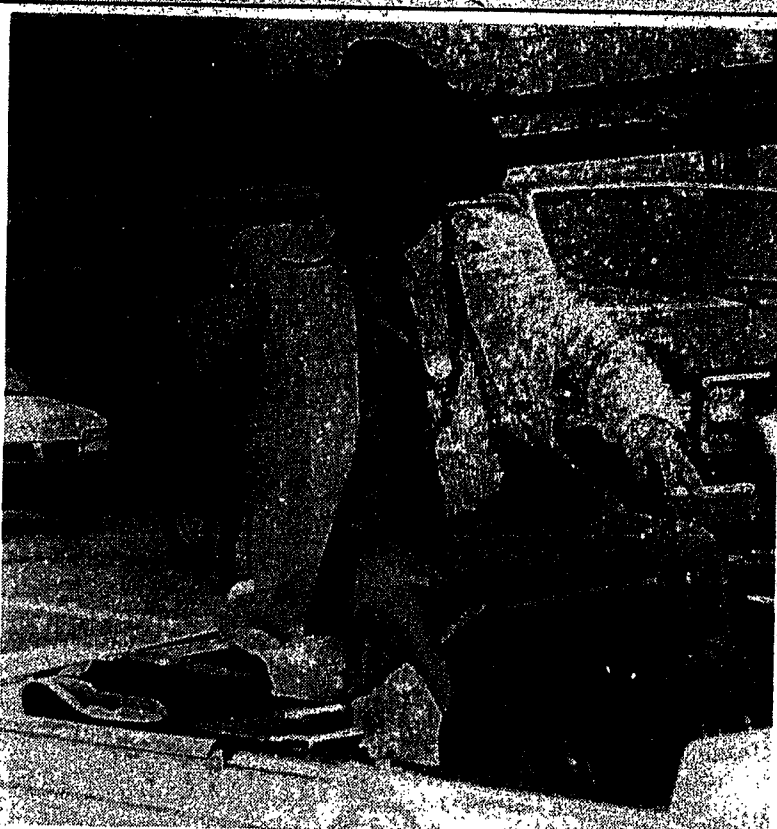

Nine more warrants are still outstanding.

"We feel like some of them aren't around anymore, but some of them may be," Peterson said.

Approximately 15 officers were involved in the roundup. Sheriff's Investigator Glen Strong and Waveland Investigators Sandra Henley and Robert Tartavouille were in charge of the operation.

Peterson commented that cocaine has become more prevalent than marijuana, on the street.

"We are going to continue doing this type of operation. We feel it helps curtail drug pushers in the county," Peterson said.

SHERIFF RONALD PETERSON greets the crowd as he rides in the Diamondhead Land Parade Saturday. Peterson was grand marshal for the parade, which attracted a large crowd despite cold weather. The Krewe of St. Paul parades at 1 p.m. today in Pass Christian and the Krewe of Real People will parade at about 1 p.m. Tuesday. The route for the Tuesday parade is on Page 2—A. ## Train, car collide, woman remains critical

BY DENA BISNETTE

The condition of a Waveland woman who was injured in a

Friday night collision involving her vehicle and a train remained unchanged Saturday.

A nursing supervisor at Memorial Hospital at Gulfport said Saturday afternoon that Jenny Fernandez, 28, continued to be classified as "very critical."

Fernandez was brought to the hospital with extensive head injuries after her Nissan was totaled when a 157-car CSX Transportation train hit the front driver's side of the vehicle, according to a news release from Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn.

Fernandez, who is deaf, was driving south on Coleman Avenue at the time and apparently did not see the train, which was headed west. The train was traveling about 40 m.p.h. at the time. Authorities have not determined how fast Fernandez was going but she is not believed to have been speeding.

Traffic had to be rerouted for about two hours.

Authorities at the scene searched for Fernandez' daughter, because at the time she was thought to have been a passenger in the car. Police and firefighters made an extensive search of the area surrounding the overturned car.

Witnesses stated that authorities then searched the inside of the vehicle after a wrecker service crew turned it upright and the doors were forced open, but Officer Danny Carter said later he found the child at a local dancing class.

Mobile Medic Ambulance Service assisted Waveland Police Department and Waveland Fire Department at the scene.

The investigation into the accident is continuing.

Making Madri Gras:

Scanlan works behind the scenes

BY DENA BISNETTE

Mardi Gras is Tuesday, but for Ed Scanlan Jr. of Waveland, Carnival season is already over.

He helps make Mardi Gras happen.

Scanlan does not serve as captain of a krewe, ride floats or escort lavishly dressed maids, but his work during the Carnival season is highly visible even though he is not. His job is designing, constructing and installing the sets for the balls.

Scanlan operates a one-man company called Ed Scanlan Scenic Artists. He concentrates on balls, although he has had experience in parade work. He has a large stock of sets for rent and he custom-designs sets for anyone who wants something new or different.

Locally, he provided sets this year for Krewe of Real People, Nereids and Krewe of A.L.A. He also did some of the artwork seen on the floats in last week's Krewe of Nereids parade.

"Mardi Gras was over for me on Saturday night," Scanlan explained. "I did my last ball."

His sets are all made in pieces to make them easier to take down and fit in the trailer he uses to transport them. For the A.L.A. ball, his last for 1989, he used a set that has already been part of a ball elsewhere and he already knew how long it would take to install and dismantle.

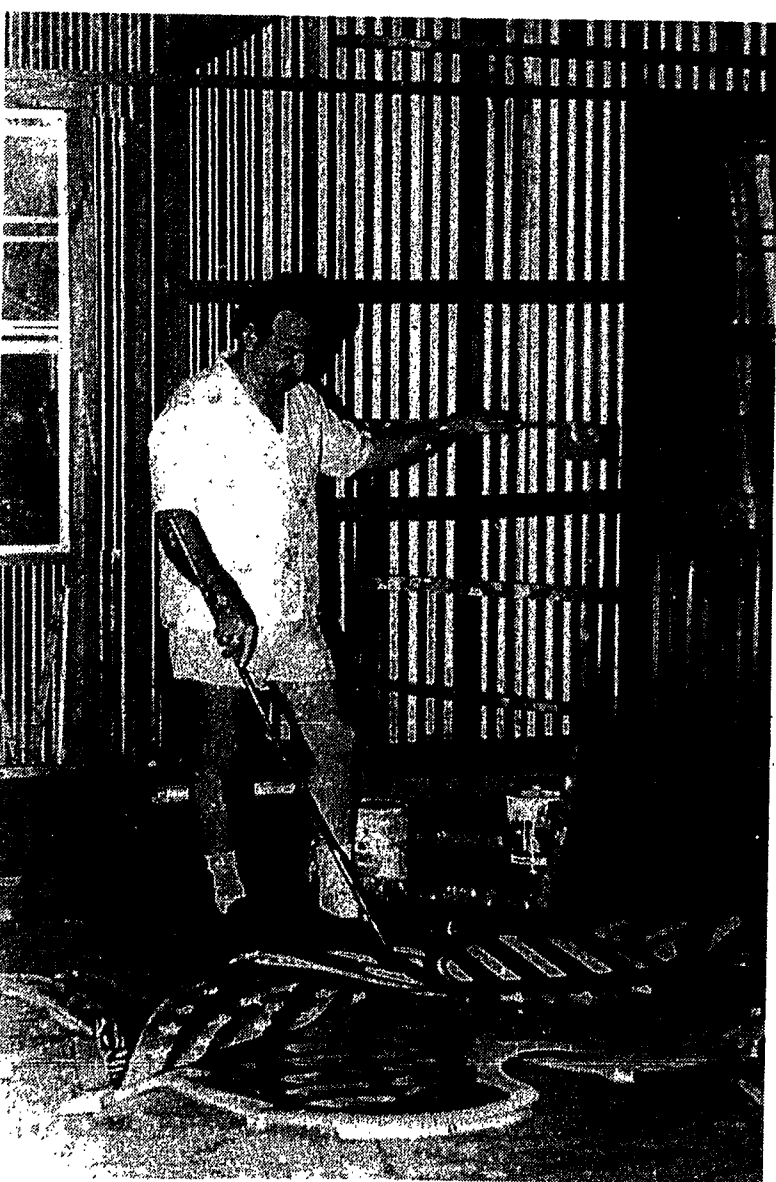

He began with a scale drawing, and for some sets like this one, he adds a colored sketch. Then, he scaled everything down on a floor plan complete with the platforms for the royalty.

Each piece was then listed on a production sheet which includes everything from the largest figure used to the tools and a roll of tape. If a customer wants to know how involved using a particular set will be, Scanlan can pull that item out of his files.

Scanlan has had no formal education in set construction or art. Instead, he learned his trade on-the-job with Spangenberg Studios of Metairie, where he worked on about 65 balls a year for 15 years. This was until April 1973 when he chose to

At Spangenberg, he started with silk screen printing and had worked through various facets of the business, designing and executing department store displays and working on other events in addition to Mardi Gras.

When he first left Spangenberg, he had a number of established customers including several parades. However, an illness in 1981 that required Scanlan to undergo surgery several times cause a drop in business, and he is still in the process of re-establishing his company.

Outside the Mardi Gras season, Scanlan applies that experience to other events. He has available sets for dance recitals, fashion shows and other events, or will build them for a customer's specifications.

He is also a member of several theatre groups, with the local ones including Diamondhead Dinner Theatre, Bay St. Louis Little Theatre and Waveland Players, and is often called upon to design and build sets for plays. His interest in theatre

Died Feb. 4, 1964

Mother, what would we give to see you smile, to sit with you and talk a while.

The shock was so severe to part with the one we love so dear.

We often sit and think of you; the things you used to say and do.

We wonder why you had to leave us without a chance to say good-bye.

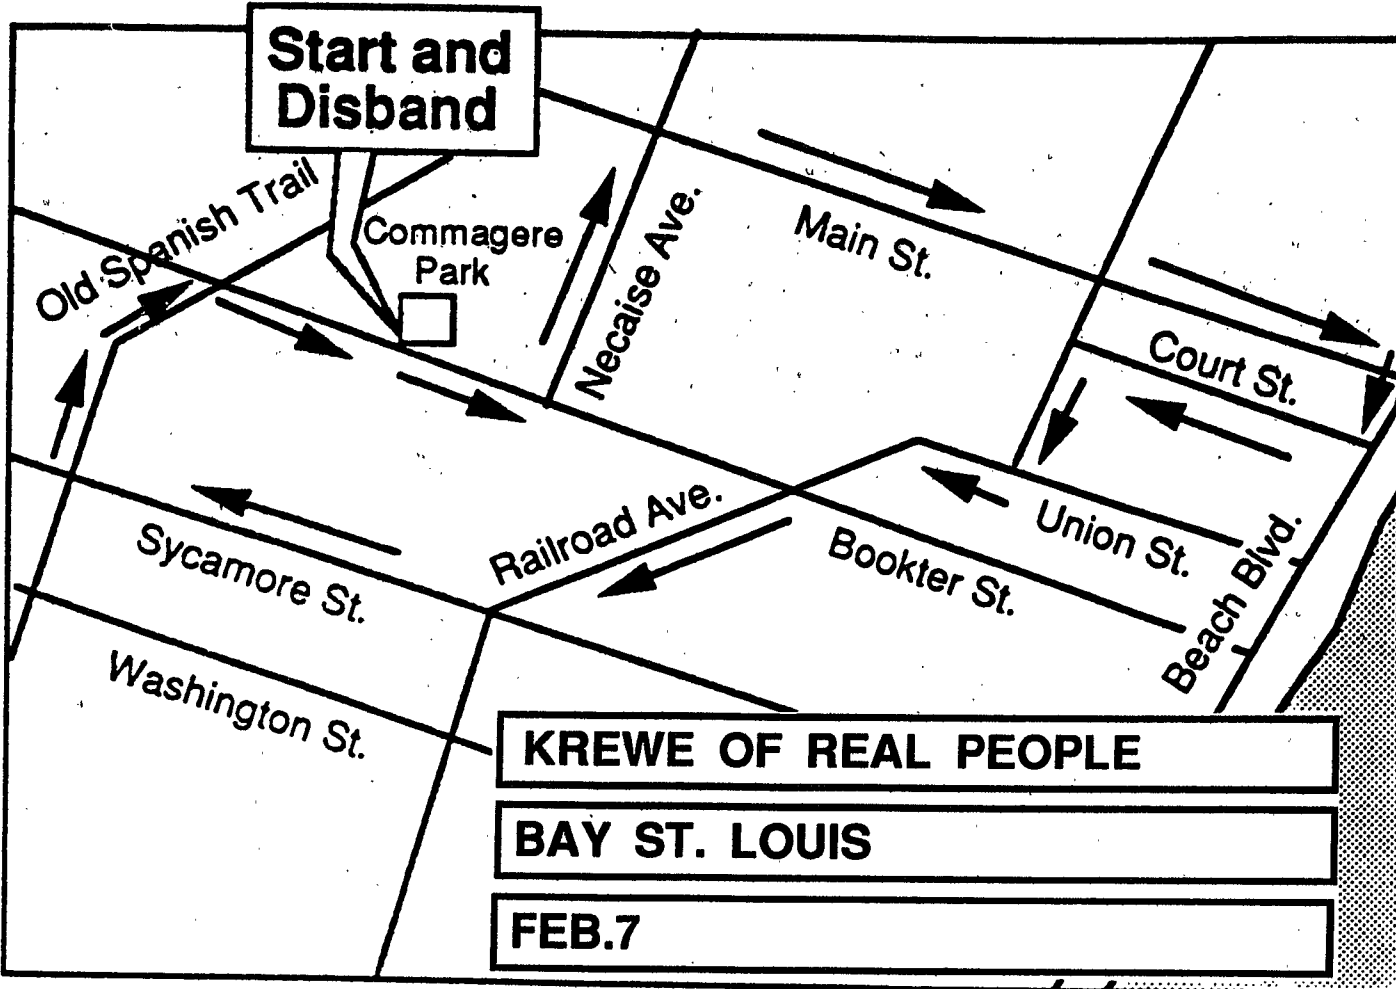

But we have only your memory, dear Mother, to cherish our whole life through.

But sweetness will linger forever as we cherish the memory of you.

So we shed a tear in silence and we breathe a sigh of regret.

For you are ours to remember if the whole world should ever forget.

has expanded to acting, singing and directing, and his most recent appearance was in Kinetic Neo-Skene Theatre's production of "Cabaret" at the Biloxi Saenger.

Scanlan's trade uses a number of artistic media.

His office is decorated with full-color sketches from when he used to design costumes and headpieces, but his versatility is more obvious in his workshop, which he refers to as "like a grown-up Disneyland."

There are horses, tigers, masks, jesters, can-can girls, Egyptian heads and various other figures from sets or floats, groups according to whether they are awaiting repair or reuse.

Most are made by using a papier mache' process and pieces of cardboard. Although Scanlan generally forms figures from scratch, he does make casts of some when he wants duplicates.

His wife Catherine sews the curtains, which he said are among his most expensive props and are "the hardest thing to work with."

The job is becoming a family project, because his seven-year-old granddaughter Jennifer is now helping him paint in base colors and do some of the easier work.

He also has wooden flats and fabric drops. He enjoys making the flats and has found that among the most popular items wanted on them is scrollwork. His personal favorites are a set of candelabras that can be lighted.

His favorite figure is the jester, who he sees as the real symbol of Mardi Gras.

"A lot of people want to use the comedy and tragedy masks, but that's not Mardi Gras, that's theatre," he explained, displaying a more horizontal type of mask designed only to cover the upper face. "I like the jester because he's more what Mardi Gras is about."

Now that Carnival is over for him, Scanlan said he will work odd jobs and whatever special events call for his scenic industry. At the same time, he will keep Mardi Gras alive all year as he repairs, repaints, and adds new items to his stock.

The wheat crop is progressing well in Hancock County. Producers have achieved good stands and the potential yield looks good. However, with the warm winter we've had some wheat grow more than it should. This could later make the wheat susceptible to cold damage if we have a late freeze.

Producers should apply extra nitrogen by the middle of February. Research has shown that one application of 200 to 250 pounds of ammonia nitrate or 200 pounds of urea is sufficient.

Wheat that is heading will need to be scouted on a weekly basis and fungicide application to protect the grain head should be considered.

Home Vegetable Gardening

It's still not too late to soil sample your garden. We still have time to apply lime and have it work for us. Many soil samples we've seen for gardens indicate an acid soil.

Lime can counteract this acidity and make nutrients more available to the garden plants.

Irish potato planting should be considered starting around February 14. Seed potatoes should be cut into hen egg size with at least one eye per piece.

Cut pieces should be laid out one layer thick for several days to allow the cut pieces to heal. Remember do not lime where you intend to plant potatoes.

Wildlife Marketing

Even though deer season is over there are several species of game that can still be hunted in Hancock County. Quail and rabbits come to mind quickly.

Land owners can receive monetary income by charging hunters to harvest the species on their property.

As I see it, land for hunting is becoming harder to come by and many people are willing to pay for the opportunity to hunt.

Even though this income may not be sizeable, it may help pay taxes or other necessary land expenses.

Timber Economics

A great deal of timber has been cut in Hancock County this past year. I'm pleased that most landowners are now seeking several bids for their timber. Some are receiving several thousand more dollars by taking the extra step.

After the harvest is complete financial assistance is available to help the land owner replant. Contact the County Forester or the ASCS office in Poplarville for more details.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

King cakes have been involved in this season of the year in Hancock County for as long as I can remember. We realize this is more or less a regional custom associated with the Mardi Gras season, but it does not take newcomers long to find out about them.

The tradition for most bakeries is to offer King cakes from January 6, King's Day, through Mardi Gras day.

I, like most folks enjoy King cakes; the only problem is my waist line always seems to increase during the season.

King cakes usually carry the three colors of Mardi Gras, green, yellow and purple, with some having red to symbolize the life of Jesus.

One thing is for sure, the decorations sure add to the number of calories in a slice, but how delicious they are.

As Mardi Gras rolls around on Tuesday, we will be awaiting King's Day next year.

We have mentioned numerous times the number of residents we see doing some type of exercise in order to stay in shape.

Myself, I try to walk four or five times a week, while others jog, bicycle, swim, play basketball, go to the club or some other endeavour.

Experts tell us to gradually condition our bodies into whatever type of exercise is to our liking.

I do have to tell you one about one of my friends. I will not reveal his name, yet I will tell you this, he is a Rotarian.

This Rotarian claims that his wife decided he needed more exercise, so she signed him up to play basketball on Wednesday nights.

Wednesday at noon, while at Rotary, he seemed to be full of fire. I guess he was anticipating that night's basketball play.

It is hard to believe he was the same person on Thursday when I saw him at a United Way Awards presentation.

He was talking very little and moving very slowly. It seems he discovered some muscles he hadn't been using too frequently. He did say after the first night of basketball he was unable to go to work the next day, so I guess his physical condition is improving.

He did say he really enjoys playing basketball, which is good for a person when they enjoy their exercising.

We do want to commend all of those who exercise on a regular basis.

Mardi Gras is only two days away and many area parades are history for 1989.

Our neighbors to the east in Pass Christian will celebrate with St. Paul's parade, which is scheduled to roll at 1 p.m. today.

In Bay St. Louis Tuesday, the Krewe of Real People will roll through the streets beginning at about 1 p.m.

Councilman Charles Johnson is this year's king with Nellie Bell as queen. Rogers James, principal of Bay Senior High, will serve as Grand Marshall.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, who served as Grand Marshall for the Krewe of Diamondhead yesterday, had a little cooler ride then I had last year.

It is hard to figure just what the weather will be for any Mardi Gras parade.

Last Sunday we noticed many of the members of the Krewe of Nereids wiping perspiration from under their masks because of the warm weather.

People were in summer wear last Sunday and to the other extreme had to wear overcoats for Saturday's parade.

Congratulations are in order for State Representative J.P. Compretta, who was elected as chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Performance Evaluation and Expenditure Review (PEER).

Compretta, of Bay St. Louis, is very active and is also chairman of the House Committee on Local and Private Legislation and serves on several other committees.

We wish J.P. well on his new position and know he will be doing his best for our county and state.

NEW CHAIRMAN—State Representative J.P. Compretta of Bay St. Louis, who has been elected chairman of the Legislative Peer Committee for the coming year, accepts the gavel from the former chairman, Senator Cecil Mills of Clara. From left are Senator Roger Wicker of Tupelo, the committee secretary; Mills; Compretta; and Senator R.G. (Bunky) Huggins of Greenwood, vice chairman.

Compretta named PEER chairman

Representative J. P. Compretta of Bay St. Louis has been elected chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Performance Evaluation and Expenditure Review (PEER) for the coming year.

Compretta, a nine-year legislative veteran, succeeds Senator Cecil Mills of Clara under a committee rule which provides for the chairmanship to rotate annually between the House and the Senate. Compretta previously served as vice chairman of the 10-member panel.

Senator R.G. (Bunky) Huggins of Greenwood was elected vice chairman and Senator Roger Wicker of Tupelo was elected secretary.

Created in the 1973 legislative session, the PEER Committee serves as the investigative and management audit arm of the Legislature. It performs a variety of services including program evaluations, economy and efficiency reviews, financial audits, preparation of fiscal notes and special investigations.

Compretta, who represents House District 122 in Hancock, also is chairman of the House Committee on Local and Private Legislation. Other committee assignments include conservation and water resources, Judiciary A, Ways and Means and State Library.

FROM THE SENATE

By U.S. Senator Trent Lott

U.S. Senator Trent Lott has already taken an active role in this 101st Congress. Last week Lott participated in hearings to confirm Secretary of Commerce-Designate Robert Mosbacher, Secretary of Transportation-Designate Samuel Knox Skinner, and Secretary of Defense-Designate John Tower.

"As a member of these committees, the decisions made will have a direct impact on the future of Mississippi," Lott said.

Earlier this month, Lott met with Mosbacher and Skinner, individually, to discuss specific concerns he has for the State of Mississippi and the nation.

Commercial fisheries and rural transportation were two topics discussed. "I feel these are two particular issues that should be considered and dealt with by these Cabinet officials as soon as possible," he said.

Lott told Senator Tower, during his hearing before the Armed Services Committee, that he would support his nomination wholeheartedly. "Senator Tower, you are uniquely qualified for this position," Lott added.

Mosbacher, from Houston, Texas, presently serves as chairman of the board for Mosbacher Energy Company, an independent oil and gas producer.

Skinner has served as chairman of the Regional Transportation Authority of Northeastern Illinois—the second largest public mass transportation system in the United States since 1984.

Tower was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1961 where he served as chairman of the Armed Services Committee from 1981 to 1985.

All designees upon approval from their corresponding committees, will be considered by the full Senate for final confirmation.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

A team of 30 Mississippians have been given the assignment of improving the state's economic development effort by developing a strategy that will take us into the next century.

Until now the state has had no formal strategy or 'game plan' to guide economic development efforts, but the 30 individuals who make up the Governor's Task Force on Economic Development welcome this challenge.

Leading the task force is the Mississippi Economic Council's tax chairman and former state treasurer, Bill Cole who was named to the position by Gov. Ray Mabus.

The task force was authorized by the 1988 Legislature and members were appointed by Gov. Mabus. The purpose of the group is to gather research and develop a plan for Mississippi's economic development efforts through 2010.

The appointment of Cole to lead the task force indicates a commitment to this project that the state has long needed. For years Mississippi's economic development effort has been carried on by a loosely knit group of state agencies and institutions with duties and responsibilities unclearly defined.

Now that the players have been realigned, it's time to provide them with a suitable game plan—that's the task of the governor's team—to develop the game plan. Let's hope it's a winner.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

Campaign finance reform proposed by Cochran

Senator Thad Cochran is sponsoring a comprehensive package of campaign finance reform legislation.

Key elements of the bill include provisions to reduce the amount PACs (political action committees) may contribute to federal candidates and increase the amount allowed for individual contributors.

This package developed by the Senate Republican task force offers responsible alternatives to the present system, and to other proposals which feature taxpayer-financed federal elections," the senator commented.

The Senate Republican leadership introduced the campaign reform legislation as the 101st Congress began work this week.

Senator Cochran pointed out the bill would reduce PAC contribution limits from $5,000 per candidate per election to only $1,000. The limit on individual contributions would be increased from $1,000 to $2,000 per election for President or Congress.

Another major feature calls for full disclosure of so-called "soft money," spending by PACs, labor unions, corporations and non-profit organizations. These expenditures are used to influence federal elections by voter registration drives, telephone banks and membership communications.

The bill also seeks to control independent expenditures, restrict the so-called "millionaire's loophole," by which Presidential and Congressional candidates spend or loan themselves personal funds, and enlarge the role of political parties in "coordinated expenditures" in each state.

National political parties would be required to make complete disclosure of receipts, expenditures and soft money activities in federal elections, and prohibit the bundling of contributions except by political party committees.

Federal candidates could also purchase discount broadcast time the last 45 days before a primary and the last 60 days before general elections.

Senator Thad Cochran will serve on five key Appropriations Committee panels during the 101st Congress.

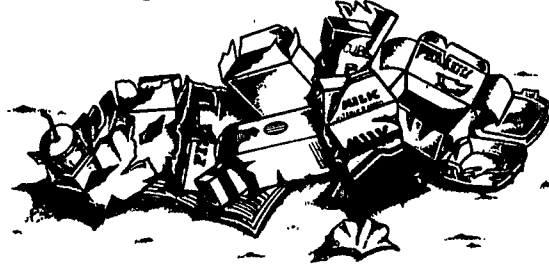

The Senator will continue to be the ranking Republican member on Agriculture and Rural Development, and will continue serving on the Defense, Interior, and Energy and Water Development subcommittees.

In a new assignment, Sen. Cochran will serve on the Labor, Health and Human Services panel.

The Agriculture and Rural Development panel provides annual funding for USDA programs, including crop price supports, rural housing, farm loans, food and nutrition programs, export development, forestry, catfish research and a wide range of educational, research and support programs and services in the state.

Defense appropriations fund the nation's defense system, including military bases, plant contracts, and the national Guard and Reserve units in Mississippi.

Side Street Crossings

By Dena Bisnette

What do you do with all the plastic beads and things you catch at Mardi Gras?

Last weekend my husband Joe and I had a good time at the Krewe of Nereids parade in Waveland. He caught a couple of brightly colored cups and we filled one with beads, doubloons and the plastic footballs the people on the black-and-gold float rained on my head when they saw my U.S.M. hat.

We had been up on the reviewing stand, which Joe calls "a privilege of having a wife who knows everybody," and as we were coming off the stairs, Joe caught sight of a baby in a stroller. He held out a string of blue beads to the child and smiled, and the child accepted the trinket with the special kind of laughter that belongs only to very small children.

That was charming, but now what do we do with the rest of the beads? Maybe I can decorate my rearview mirror with them or give them to my nieces.

Joe and I both love Mardi Gras. We've been on the Gulf Coast a few years now but it's still kind of new to both of us. He grew up in North Mississippi where Mardi Gras was never celebrated, and I went to school in a town somewhat north of here with one small Catholic church.

The closest I ever got to Mardi Gras was when one of the nuns went to New Orleans for the day, caught lots of beads and brought them home to throw to us on the playground.

I became considerably more aware of the Mardi Gras tradition at University of Southern Mississippi. When I lived on the Hattiesburg campus back in 1980 and '81, Coast residents skipped class for Mardi Gras day and they usually couldn't make it to class the next day.

By the time I returned as a resident student in early 1984, the student senate had successfully petitioned to have Mardi Gras declared a holiday.

I was delighted when I was finally able to attend balls and parades myself. I don't attend the ones in New Orleans, preferring to stick to the local ones like Krewe of S.C.O.W.I. and Krewe of A.L.A., because I know everybody there.

But what is the tradition behind throws?

I know the basic Catholic traditions behind Fat Tuesday itself but when I ask anybody about throws, they either don't know or give me an answer like, "Because it's so much fun!"

Except for some very special ones, most of these necklaces look just like what they are—something somebody caught off a float. I know kids love them, and maybe grown-ups like them because, for the duration of the parade, the throws give them an excuse to be kids again.

I understand that, historically, beads were a popular trading item between the early settlers of this country and the Indians. I read somewhere that beads were the currency that paid for Manhattan Island. I wonder how many gross of Mardi Gras throws we would have to pay the Indians to get them to take the place back.

Trading with the natives—from the look of some folks I see at parades, maybe there's a connection.

Maybe beads symbolize something else that's round, like a king cake, or something that comes in strings, like second liners. Or are they just more exciting keepsakes than ticker tape and confetti? Does it mean the royalty is tossing favors to happy subjects?

Throws certainly add a nice competitive edge to the parade. Folks try to yell "Throw me something, mister!" louder than the next guy, then see who can scramble fastest when the float riders oblige.

Maybe Mardi Gras beads are for people like me, who consider rearview mirror ornamentation a little-recognized art form and need new material from time to time.

Whether I know why or not, catching beads is fun, so have a safe and happy Mardi Gras and we'll see you at the parades.

ON PATROL

CHILD HURT

A 16-month-old child who accidentally fell into a pond remains hospitalized.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said the child, Steven Anthony Ladner, was still hospitalized Saturday morning.

The accident occurred at about 5 p.m. Friday when the child, who is son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Dale Ladner, somehow opened the door to their mobile home on Kiln-DeLisle Road and wandered about 100 feet into a pond.

The child was found by Jimmy Ladner Jr., his half brother, and Robert Schmidt Jr., who pulled him from the pond and carried him back to the house trailer, according to a report from one of the responding officers, Robert Necaize.

The two started cardiopulmonary resuscitation, with assistance from John I. Necaize.

Peterson stated that two sheriff's department units, Robert Necaize and Deron Cuevas, arrived on the scene within six minutes of the call.

STABBING DEATH

A Pass Christian man was stabbed to death Thursday during an incident at a Vietnamese New Year's Party at a Gulfport residence.

Gulfport Police Chief H.T. Hargrove said that Trung Nguyen, 26, of 1704 21st Ave., Gulfport, and Bien Nguyen, 34, of 615 Allendale Ave., Gulfport, were charged with murder.

The victim was identified as Tho Duc Nguyen, 23, of 401 Dawn Ave., Pass Christian.

Both men who were charged were also injured in the incident, which Hargrove said apparently erupted when the men fought over a card game and Trung and Bien left the residence where the party was taking place. They allegedly returned with a knife and an assault rifle but the rifle was apparently never fired.

Tho Duc was taken to Memorial Hospital at Gulfport, where he later died.

Biloxi Police Investigator Trong Nguyen assisted Gulfport authorities in the investigation as a translator because none of the people involved spoke English.

Trung was treated for his injuries and is jailed in Harrison County under $50,000 bond, while Bien remained hospitalized under guard at Memorial, the police chief stated.

Coast Electric flies Bennington Flag

February is American History Month. It is a time for all citizens to recall the events which have helped provide the liberties and blessings afforded Americans.

The Friendship Oak Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution has selected Coast Electric Power Association to join them in recognizing American History Month. The DAR chose Coast Electric as their representative to fly the Bennington Flag.

The Bennington Flag is hailed as the oldest Stars and Stripes banner. It was the camp flag of a Vermont militia company and holds the honor of being the first banner used on land by American armed forces. It flew in glory at the Battle of Bennington in Virginia, which was one of the major battles of the Revolutionary War.

The flag contains 13 pointed stars, white on a blue field representing a new constellation. The bold digits 7 and 6 total the sum 13. In contrast to the U.S. Flag, the Bennington Flag's stripes are alternate white and red, instead of red and white.

Coast Electric was chosen to hoist the flag after it was noted that the association throughout the years has shown patriotism by the prominent display of flags of the United States and Mississippi. The cooperative has always adhered to the rules of display and they have been carefully observed.

The Bennington Flag flew over Hancock County to mark the opening of the Bicentennial celebration in 1976. It flies again over Hancock County in recognition of American History Month, celebrated each February.

Sponsoring American History Month are many citizens whose ancestors fought in this battle of independence.

Reflections

Gorbachev and Jesus

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

What is the most significant thing which you read or heard during the past year? Turning the question around, of the things which you heard and read last year, what gave you the most hope?

Predictably, those questions may have almost as many answers as there are people living on this earth. My personal impression came from a rather strange source, considering that the Pope and many other spiritual and humanitarian giants spoke and wrote.

"Jesus Christ alone now answers to all questions and knew how to feed 20,000 Jews with five loaves of bread. We don't possess that skill. We have no ready prescription to solve all our problems quickly. We together with our society are seeking answers to all questions. And this is accompanied by discussions, and sometimes by heated debate, and that is normal."

Had these words been uttered by the Pope, by some theologian, by a school teacher or even by a Christian politician, they would have raised no eyebrows. But they were stated by none other than Mikhail Gorbachev, the dashing new leader of the Soviet Union.

"The Evil Empire" is supposedly rooted in the principles of atheism and materialism. On the face of it that leaves no room for Jesus Christ, let alone the God he claimed to be.

Yet, Gorbachev mentioned Jesus in such a way as to imply that he believed in him historically and allows that he was a very wise and powerful man. If only we could read Gorbachev's mind! If only we could know what is his true motivation for speaking so!

Perhaps it is the infectiousness of the Christmas season and the accompanying upbeat hopes of the New Year driving us toward optimism, but there is an eerie feeling in the air. There is a skin-crawling sensation that the words of Isaiah, long shrouded in mystery and speculation, may be coming to pass:

"Justice shall be the band around his waist, and faithfulness a belt upon his hips. Then the wolf shall be a guest of the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid. The calf and the young lion shall browse together, with a little child to guide them." (Isaiah 11:5-6)

Although some were encouraged, others took a jaundiced view of Gorbachev's offer to the U.N. of partial unilateral disarmament and reduction of troops. "Many of those weapons are obsolete anyway!" some were saying. "That leaves room for deadlier arms."

Frankly, given the deadly, end-time condition of the world, we cannot afford not to explore thoroughly what Gorbachev seems to be offering us. At the risk of being snookered by the semantics of a devious, power-hungry tyrant, it is almost irresistible to conclude that Gorbachev may indeed be a vessel of God.

Gorbachev's perestroika (restructuring) and glasnost (openness) have a striking parallel to Vatican II with Pope John XXIII opening "little windows." Heavy stuff this is, but it is quite conceivable that God has chosen Gorbachev as a vessel of sweeping change.

As we stand perched on the threshold of the New Year, we do indeed see great changes. Together with perestroika, glasnost and Vatican II, we see minorities coming of age throughout the U.S.A. and, inexorably, in regions such as South Africa.

This January, it is 100 years since the First Black Catholic National Congress took place in what is now St. Augustine Church in Washington, D.C. What we have seen and heard since then gives us every reason to believe that Jesus is coming into his own and that he will rule the world through the Gorbachevs and Bushes.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Gibson-Waits

MR. AND MRS. DAVID TERRELL GIBSON JR.

Fagan-Cameron

Lisa Diane Cameron became the bride of Randolph Francis Fagan Jr. in an afternoon ceremony January 7 at St. John Catholic Church in Gulfport. The Reverend John Kelly officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Larry Cameron of Gulfport. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Randolph F. Fagan Sr. of Ocean Springs.

Nuptial music was presented by Risa Hebron, pianist, and Randy Bond, cousin of the bride, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin, fashioned with high neckline adorned with lace and pearls atop a yoke of illusion. A puffed satin upper sleeve tapered to a fitted illusion sleeve adorned with lace and pearls ending in calla points. The fitted bodice was encrusted with pearls and embroidered lace, while the illusion back was closed with tiny buttons. A large bow topped the back waistline above a full skirt with cathedral train edged in lace.

Her tiara of beaded Alencon lace held a fingertip veil of illusion.

The bride carried a cascade of white roses, baby's breath and fern.

Wendy Cameron of Gulfport, sister of the bride, was maid of

Bridesmaids were Dee Dee Strong of Bay St. Louis, cousin of the bride; Sherry Seichynadre and Diane Sison, both of Gulfport; and Susan Sanders of Greenwood.

Brandi Mayfield of Houston, Tex. was flower girl.

The attendants were identically attired in tea length gowns of iridescent green taffeta, each featuring short puffed sleeves, and scooped back enhanced with bow. They carried long stemmed burgundy roses.

Todd Fagan and Coby Fagan of Ocean Springs, brothers of the groom, were best man and groomsman, respectively.

Groomsmen included David Hansen and Chuck Brown of Gulfport and Andy Browne of Dale City, Va.

Vincent Talazac of Bay St. Louis was usher.

Corey Hudson of Gulfport was ring bearer.

The bride's mother, the former Melanie Vassalli, chose a mauve dropped waist dress with beaded neckline. The groom's mother was attired in a turquoise gown with pearls and beads at the neckline and shoulder.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Gulfport Yacht Club.

The couple resides in Biloxi.

Suzanne Terese Waits exchanged wedding vows with David Terrell Gibson Jr. in a morning ceremony on December 31 at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

The Reverends Peter Mockler and Michael Tracey and Monsignor James McGough con-celebrated a Nuptial Mass and jointly officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Waits of Pass Christian. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Terrell Gibson Sr. of Brookhaven.

Musical selections were provided by Joseph Robertson, organist, and Michael Smith, vocalist.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk taffeta with fitted basque bodice overlaid with point d'sprit lace accented with pearls, featuring a scalloped sweetheart neckline edged with schiffli lace and long, tapered sleeves.

The back neckline fell to a deep V above a pearl-decorated butterfly bow at the waist on the full taffeta skirt. Rows of tucks enhanced with scalloped schiffli lace formed the hemline and encircled the chapel length train. She wore a contour wreath of lace and pearls with illusion pouf and waist-length veil.

She carried her grandmother's prayer book and a cascade of white phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis, white bridal roses with baby's breath and English ivy.

Matron of honor was Mary Beth Krennek of Huntsville, Ala., sister of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Renee Echols of Indian Orchard, Mass., sister-in-law of the bride; Annette Bergstrom of Washington D.C., Kathy Martinovich of Bay St. Louis and Mary Beth Craig of Westchester, Ohio.

They wore dresses of emerald, iridescent taffeta each with sabrina neckline, elbow-length sleeves, and fitted basque bodice marked at the hip with self bow and V-back above a full skirt with high-low hemline.

Each carried a sheath of white tulips, white larkspur, baby's breath and berry sprays.

The groom's father served his son as best man. Groomsmen were William F. Waits of Pass Christian, brother of the bride; Christopher Eastburn of Hattiesburg, Charles Stinson of Greenville and John McTaggart of Marks.

Ushers were Mark Hill of Rockville, Md. and Lee Stubbs of Vicksburg.

A luncheon buffet followed the wedding at Chappy's Restaurant in Long Beach.

After honeymooning in California, the couple will reside in Gig Harbor, Wash., where the groom is employed as an aviation warrant officer at Fort Lewis, Wash. The bride is an engineer with Naval Sea Systems Command at Puget Sound Naval Base at Bremerton, Wash.

MRS. DAVID SCOTT EWERT

Ewert-Bell

Bonnie Louise Bell and David Scott Ewert, both of Portland, Oregon, exchanged wedding vows January 7 in the Lady Chapel of the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Baptist Church in Portland.

The bride is the granddaughter of Joe Pilet of Bay St. Louis. Her mother, the former Barbara Allen Bell, is director of Developments at Oregon Episcopal School in Portland.

A champagne breakfast preceded the wedding ceremony, where a family heirloom banquet tablecloth used for generations adorned the table.

The bride's gown of ivory satin was fashioned with bateau neckline and sheer fitted sleeves of point d'sprit lace. She carried a traditional bouquet of roses, baby's breath and fern and wore a wreath of fresh flowers.

Following a wedding trip to the Northwest, the couple returned to Albuquerque, N. Mex., where they are proprietors of a sun shield business.

SECTION B

Mardi Gras

Krewe of Diamondhead holds fourteenth annual ball

The 14th annual Krewe of Diamondhead Mardi Gras ball was held on Saturday, Jan. 28 at the Diamondhead Country Club. King Ali'i Honua XIV Herb Larson and Queen Dot Hoskins ruled over the festivity. The king and queen greeted their subjects in matching costumes of white trimmed in silver. The queen's gown was of white sequins with stones and shimmering trim. A matching collar framed the queen's shoulders. The king wore white tails. The royal mantles were emblazoned with gold sequins with the official crest of the Krewe of Diamondhead. Rhinestone crowns and scepters completed the royal couple's outfit.

Larson, a resident of Diamondhead for 17 years, retired from Exxon management. Hoskins, a native of Lumberton, was a former fashion and television model in New Orleans.

The maids to the queen were Mrs. Henry (Alice) Burkhardt and Mrs. Charles (Lorraine) Johnson Sr. The dukes to the king were Jerry Bourg, Bill Bradley, Ben Doss and Dr. Eugene Garcia.

Captain Benny Mistretta proposed a toast to the royal couple, followed by the royal proclamation from King Ali'i Honua XIV Herb Larson. The immediate families of the royal couple were presented.

The 1989 sea royalty was introduced; King Akua Kai XV Curtis H. Stout and Queen Gladys Murry McCook.

Entertainment was provided by 'Southern Exposure' from the University of Southern Mississippi under the direction of Timothy Breland. The theme of the song and dance was music of the 50's.

Social Lieutenant Bill Neff served as master of ceremony and music was provided by 'Deacon J and the Backsiders.'

The main dining room was decorated with balloons, beads, masks, doubloons, clowns, flags, flowers and streamers in the traditional carnival colors of purple, green and gold.

Former land royalty attending the ball were 1980 Queen Lee Fredian; King Ali'i Honua

Other past royalty from the Krewe of Kamahameha were Queens Jean Keen, Mary Lou Freeman and Billy Jean Barger and Kings Bud Freeman and Johnny Barger.

Other krewe officers are Henry Burkhardt, president; Clarice Gustin, secretary; Jerry Bourg, treasurer; Chris Arnos, parade lieutenant; Hilda Bourg, publicity lieutenant; Ted Godard, ways and means lieutenant; and Ron Bankston, decoration lieutenant.

Mardi Gras terms defined

Carnival Ball: For the members of many Carnival krewes, the Carnival ball or bal masque is the climax of the festive season. In keeping with the clubs' secret or mystic nature, the attendance to these gaud occasions is by invitation only.

Doubloons: Coins tossed from floats by maskers. Made of aluminum, they bear the krewe's emblem on one side.

Flambeaux: Originally used to help light the streets during the evening parades, these lighted torches have now become a tradition with the older krewes.

Floats: Though all parades abound with floats, particular to New Orleans are the double- and triple-decker floats used during Carnival. Decorated in papier mache or colored foils, the floats carry maskers of Carnival krewes.

Second Line: New Orleans' special brand of street dancing. The band is the first line and the crowds are the second.

Throw me something, mister: This cry is heard all along the parade routes as spectators plead with float riders to throw beads, doubloons and trinkets.

Throw: Strands of beads and other items tossed to the crowds by the riders on the float.

View Carre: Translated from French, it's meaning is 'old square,' but it is more commonly spoken as the French Quarter.

Origin of Mardi Gras colors

Purple, green and gold have traditionally colored the Carnival celebration, but the origin of this rainbow is not clear.

One explanation is that purple represents justice, green faith and gold power.

Another story says New Orleans bedecked itself in the colors of the Romanoff household when Grand Duke Alexis Romanoff visited the city in 1872 while pursuing actress Lydia Thompson.

How is the Mardi Gras date chosen?

Most Mardi Gras fans say that the big day always falls on a Tuesday, but not always the same one and not even always in the same month.

How does all this date shuffling work? Yes, there is some logic to it.

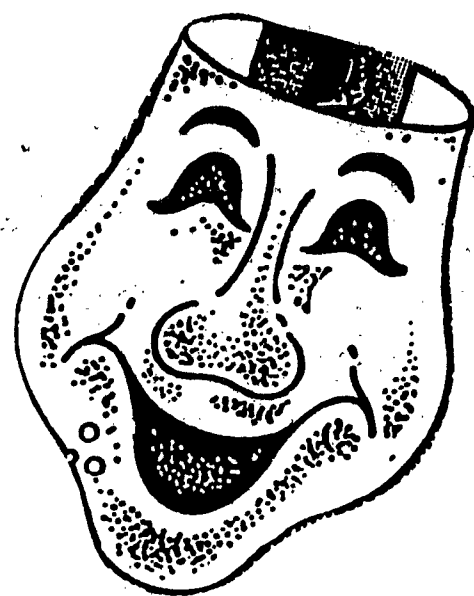

Mardi Gras, which is French for Fat Tuesday, can fall as early as Feb. 3 and as late as Mar. 9.

But one thing never changes—it always falls 46 days before Easter.

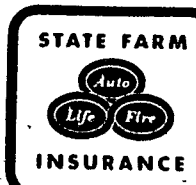

If you're new to the festival game, don't make the novice's mistake of mixing up Carnival with Mardi Gras.

Carnival refers to the season, which begins on the 12th night after Christmas, Jan. 6. Mardi Gras refers to the day before Ash Wednesday.

Fat Tuesday is a day for feasting and reveling before the Lenten season of fasting begins on Ash Wednesday.

The tradition of King Cakes told

The Epiphany or Little Christmas is observed on Jan. 6 in many Christian churches. This day has come to be known as 'King's Day.'

Since the 300's, the day has honored the meeting of the Three Wise Men with the infant Jesus. King Cakes became part of the celebration to symbolize the 'finding of baby Jesus.'

Traditionally King Cakes are oval-shaped to show unity of all Christians. The Mardi Gras season which begins on the Twelfth Night (January 6), is expressed on King Cakes by using the carnival colors of green, yellow and purple. Some bakers also decorate the cakes in red to symbolize the life of Jesus.

As a King Cake is cut, each person awaits anxiously for his piece to locate the small baby. The person who finds the 'baby' is obligated to bring a King Cake to the next seasonal celebration.

King Cake season ends on Fat Tuesday, the day before Lent begins.
